ChatGPT on JustMySocks network

Short summary:

Great news! Starting from April 12, 2023, ChatGPT access is now available. And, as of June 2, iOS ChatGPT app is also unblocked.

Shadowsocks servers (s1, s2): As of May 3, 2023, you now have full ChatGPT functionality.

v2ray servers (s3, s4, s5, s801): You have full ChatGPT functionality, with the following caveats:

If you're using a Proxy app (such as v2rayN-core), then no additional configuration is necessary, it should 'just work'.

If you're using a VPN app (usually the case on mobile devices) for v2ray connections, then you may have to enable the following settings in the app settings in order for ChatGPT to work:
   "Enable traffic sniffing"
   "Append HTTP Proxy to VPN"
   "Override Destination"

We have tested the above settings successfully in apps: v2rayNG, NekoBox, SagerNet.

If none of these settings work, then please set the following VPN DNS entry: 172.31.255.2.

Shadowrocket on iOS does not require any additional configuration and will work out of the box with default settings.

More details:

We understand how crucial it is to have access to ChatGPT nowadays. Lately, connecting to OpenAI servers from our network and many other datacenters/hosting providers has been increasingly difficult. It's disheartening that a company aiming to help people is limiting access to such a valuable tool. They might be facing abuse, but simply blocking numerous providers isn't the right solution, especially given their mission.

You might have noticed that we've been tackling this issue for some time now. We made every effort to contact OpenAI through various channels in hopes of finding a resolution, but sadly, we received no response.

Despite this setback, we've been working tirelessly on our own workaround, which was launched on April 12. We're very happy with its performance so far and are closely monitoring the network to ensure good performance, and we're ready to take further action if necessary.
